

of the blues. In addition, during the performance, the blues artists were able to connect with the audience in a way that is often missing from other types of music.

6. Little Richard - "Tutti Frutti"

Little Richard's "Tutti Frutti" is a classic example of the energy and passion that can be found in blues music. The song is a high-energy, uptempo track that is full of energy and passion. It is a classic example of the energy and passion that can be found in blues music. The song is a high-energy, uptempo track that is full of energy and passion. It is a classic example of the energy and passion that can be found in blues music.

7. Lead Zepplin - "Led Zepplin II"

Lead Zepplin's "Led Zepplin II" is a classic example of the energy and passion that can be found in blues music. The song is a high-energy, uptempo track that is full of energy and passion. It is a classic example of the energy and passion that can be found in blues music. The song is a high-energy, uptempo track that is full of energy and passion. It is a classic example of the energy and passion that can be found in blues music.

8. Melissa Etheridge - "You Little Evil"

Melissa Etheridge's "You Little Evil" is a classic example of the energy and passion that can be found in blues music. The song is a high-energy, uptempo track that is full of energy and passion. It is a classic example of the energy and passion that can be found in blues music. The song is a high-energy, uptempo track that is full of energy and passion. It is a classic example of the energy and passion that can be found in blues music.

9. John Mayer - "Any Given Thursday"

John Mayer's "Any Given Thursday" is a classic example of the energy and passion that can be found in blues music. The song is a high-energy, uptempo track that is full of energy and passion. It is a classic example of the energy and passion that can be found in blues music. The song is a high-energy, uptempo track that is full of energy and passion. It is a classic example of the energy and passion that can be found in blues music.

10. Neil Young - "Harvest"

Neil Young's "Harvest" is a classic example of the energy and passion that can be found in blues music. The song is a high-energy, uptempo track that is full of energy and passion. It is a classic example of the energy and passion that can be found in blues music. The song is a high-energy, uptempo track that is full of energy and passion. It is a classic example of the energy and passion that can be found in blues music.

Photo © iStockphoto